Why Not Home in Pensacola?

Frank A. Munsey is in Florida. He spent Tuesday in Tampa, going thence to Jacksonville, and on to Miami. Mr. Munsey has often visited in Florida and it is rumored that he will build a winter home somewhere in the state. Now, while these rumors are unconfirmed, there may be something in the statement that Mr. Munsey is looking about him with a view to locating, at least for the winter months, in the land of oranges.

If this is so, why not invite Mr. Munsey to build his winter home in Pensacola? If it is not so, why not make it so?

It may be a bit unusual to ask a man to come and live with you, even for the winter months. But why is it not just as sensible to try to induce him to build winter homes in Pensacola, as to endeavor to secure manufacturers? Winter residents are most desirable, if they are desirable at all. And certainly Mr. Munsey would be in the desirable class.

Mr. Munsey, familiar to the reading public as owner and publisher of the Munsey magazines and four newspapers, is a man of wide culture, of brains and of wealth.

Today Frank A. Munsey writes his income in seven figures, but when he went to New York city to make his way, and started his first magazine, he failed and failed and failed and kept on failing, and if he had not done all of his work himself and held on to his job with the bulldog determination that makes for success he would not today be contemplating making his winter home in Florida, and would not be in the millionaire class. It is men like this who are really successful.

Mr. Munsey has been entertained in Tampa, and the Tampa Tribune has the following to say about Mr. Munsey's opinion of Florida:

"No state in the Union in my opinion is making the speedy headway that Florida is making," said Mr. Munsey. "Florida is coming to the front at a terrific pace and has a better future than any state that I know of. With the opportunities for increasing the early production of vegetables, oranges and other fruit, the opportunities for cattle raising, phosphate mining and sea products, there is a great deal of money to be made here."

"Then, too, there is the climate. Its fame throughout the country attracts hundreds of tourists who spend thousands of dollars in the country. In fact, there is no other state to which contributions come in so many ways."

There are a great many beautiful winter homes down on the East Coast, and the tourist trade, too, is growing more extensive every year. But there is no reason in the world why some of this travel may not be directed to Pensacola, and why, if the advantages of Pensacola and the outlying territory were understood, wealthy residents might not be induced to erect winter homes here.

There is nowhere that one may find a more beautiful country than the up-land country, or that nearer to the city. The bay and the bays, the fishing grounds and hunting territory, make Pensacola an ideal winter resort, and the climate is the finest in the world, the year round.

If capitalists could be induced to come here, enjoy the fishing and hunting, the picturesque surroundings, and the charm of the social life, always one of the greatest attractions wherever the navy and army are stationed, and allied to southern hospitality, it would be an easy thing to induce them to come again, and doubtless many would make their homes here.

Pensacola has advertised her deep water port, her growing railroad facilities, and other commercial opportunities extensively, but the advantages of life here for the man of leisure have not been sufficiently exploited. Every Pensacolian should do a part in this kind of advertising, and by calling attention to Pensacola as the ideal home city—which it is—give wider publicity to its many advantages.

The life in Pensacola grows daily more interesting and more picturesque. Much emphasis has been laid on Pensacola's romantic and historic past. But it is doubtful if Pensacola's past was more historic or more romantic than the atmosphere in which we live today, and to which we have become accustomed.

The navy and army, the beauty of land and water, the adventure of deep sea fishing, the excitement of aeronautical experiments that are taking place at our doors, and the varied life they represent, and which adds so much to the social life of Pensacola, unquestionably make Pensacola one of the most desirable locations for a winter home, that may be found in Florida, or anywhere in the United States.

Flying Boat Practice Is Advertising Pensacola.

Leslie's Weekly for March 19 contains a large picture of the navy's aeronautical station at Pensacola. It shows nine hangars for flying boats and hydro-aeroplanes—the largest number of government flying machines ever assembled in the United States. In the foreground of the view is a Curtiss flying boat, with a hydro-aeroplane just beyond it.

The New York Herald of last Sunday also contained a four-column layout with cuts and descriptive matter of the work being done by the United States naval aeronauts at the Pensacola station.

The activity at the Pensacola navy yard means much not only on account of the money which is left in Pensacola, but it means more on account of the publicity which it gives the Deep Water City.

When the Pensacola navy yard, in addition to its present designation as the navy's aeronautical training station and as an advance marine base, is finally opened as a gulf naval base, it will constitute the most important of the navy department's numerous navy yards and will of course become Pensacola's greatest industrial asset.

Carranza and the Bandit General.

There seems to be forming a conspiracy against General Carranza who fills the position of president of constitutionalists in northern Mexico, and it is believed by a great many that General Villa is behind the conspiracy. There have already been arrests on conspiracy charges against Carranza, and it is believed that Villa is not only a designing man, but there is not the least bit of confidence to be put in any of his professions of friendship for Carranza or for any one else.

Carranza has recently shown a realizing sense of his duty to the United States and the developments of the past few days indicate a willingness on his part to assume an attitude more deferential to the president and more accommodating to his policy. It is reported, for instance, that he is now inclined to recognize the right of the United States to act as the representative of European powers in northern Mexico and to make representations to him in their behalf. Also Carranza has given renewed and more explicit assurances that the lives and property of foreigners in northern Mexico will be better protected. As evidence of his sincerity he is reported to have notified Villa that there must be no more looting by him and his troops.

The more accommodating disposition on the part of Carranza brightens the prospect, but whether it will continue to brighten depends largely on the course of Villa. Already Villa is reported to have shown signs of restiveness, and now it is suggested that he will set the counsels and directions of Carranza at defiance and

FIVE STEAMERS TAKING CARGO

THREE IN STREAM AND TWO AT DOCKS KEPT LARGE NUMBER OF WORKMEN BUSY—TWO VESSELS WERE CLEARED.

Five steamships worked timber and lumber in the harbor yesterday, three of them in the stream and two at the docks, making a busy day for more than one hundred baymen. One steamer and one schooner cleared for foreign ports, and no arrivals were reported. The steamer Kronstad cleared for two ports but had to work overtime to get the cargo aboard last evening. For Delfzyl, the steamer cleared with 870,000 s ft sawn timber and 50,000 cubic feet hewn timber; for Manchester, with 987,902 s ft sawn timber and 331,000 s ft lumber. The steamer will get away this morning. The British schooner Dora C cleared for Havana with 388,435 superficial feet of lumber, the two cargoes making a grand total of 2,607,337 superficial feet cleared in a day, valued at over $55,000.

Ship Movements.

The steamship Widow, which since arrival has been working at different docks taking lumber, was moved to a timber berth in the stream yesterday and worked both timber and lumber. This vessel will probably be ready for sea by tomorrow evening.

The steamship Kronstad, which was under the coal chutes Wednesday night, loaded 226 tons and moved back to the timber berth in the stream to complete cargo. Clearance papers taken out in the custom house yesterday shows this steamer to have a

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in February and March or Face Will Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish it to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all summer unless removed. Now is the time to use ointment—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by The Crystal Pharmacy under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of ointment—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely. (Adv.)

total of 2,232 sticks of timber, and considerable lumber.

The steamship Glenfruin is taking a solid cargo of timber in the stream. The steamer Norwegian at the G. F. & A. docks, and the Lord Dufferin, at the east side of Tarragona dock, both worked timber and lumber yesterday and today the same items will be worked. The big Norwegian will give a good test of the depth of water at the newest exporting dock, for a generally big lot will be loaded at that point.

Quite a number of sailing vessels were working yesterday, and the amount of lumber on barges aggregates many hundred thousand superficial feet.

Don't Let a Cold Settle on Your Lungs.

Many cases of Lung Trouble can be traced directly to a severe cold which has been neglected, and which, as a result has affected the lungs. If you have a persistent cough or cold, take warning before it is too late. Eckman's Alternative is most beneficial in such cases and has been the means of completely restoring to health many persons who had serious lung trouble. Read of this case:—

Pleasantville, N. J.
"Gentlemen:—During the winter of 1911 I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. The doctor pronounced it lung trouble. I tried nearly every preparation without any result and kept getting worse. Eckman's Alternative was recommended to me and I commenced using it as a last resort. The first bottle seemed to give no relief; in fact I seemed to feel worse, but I kept on using the medicine and found out the first bottle had really started me on the road to recovery by loosening the mucus and making me expectorate freely. After using the medicine for some time my cough ceased. I gained flesh and today I am a well man."

(Signed) GEO. M. BATES.
Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Coughs and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stomach Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence. (adv) consulted by Mayor Mitchell of New York city and Governor Glynn of New York relative to the best means of dealing with the problem. As a result Dr. Leiserson's plan for public employment offices has been adopted by Gov. Glynn and is embodied in bills now before the New York legislature. They provide that organized employees and organized labor shall be represented in the management of each employment office.

CHANGE IN LIGHT HOUSE SERVICE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, March 19.—As one result of the recent investigation into the lighthouse service by Secretary Redfield and a committee of other officials of the department of commerce, George Warrington, superintendent of naval construction of the service has been dismissed and Edward C. Gillette, assistant engineer in the service, has been appointed by President Wilson to succeed him. Mr. Gillette, a native of Philadelphia, Pa., was formerly inspector of the light-house district with headquarters at Boston. No specific charge was preferred against Mr. Warrington, his dismissal being due, it was said, to the desire of improvement in the service.

A SNEAK THIEF IN RESIDENCE HUNTS FOR CASH

HOME OF S. M. SCARRITT ON EAST JACKSON STREET ENTERED IN DAY TIME AND INTRUDER ROBBED ONLY GAS METER.

Between 3 and 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon a sneak thief entered the home of S. M. Scarritt, at 302 East Jackson street, and conducted quite a search for money, that being evidently the only object of his search, for valuable jewelry having remained untouched although in easy reach. Dresser drawers were looked into, a suit case ripped open and the house searched evidently, and at length, the sneak hunting up the gas meter and breaking it open, securing but a few dollars for his trouble.

No member of the family were at home, but neighbors on either side and across the street had no recollection of seeing anyone enter the house during the absence of the occupants, and quite an air of mystery surrounds the entire proceeding.

The matter was reported to the police station, but thus far there have been no arrests made.

Mr. Scarritt works at the railroad shops, and it was thought the thief was cognizant of that fact and entered the house in the hope of securing the salary of his intended victim. He thought evidently that the pay train had reached the city on that date.

Why MAZDA Lamps Should Be Used in Every Store

ECONOMY—Poor light in any store is expensive no matter how little it may cost. The well-lighted store gets the trade because people will instinctively turn toward it. When with Mazda Lamps a storekeeper can get the kind of light that will increase his business, and at the same time reduce his light bill, he is very much behind the times if he doesn't use them. Refer your small store owners to the large merchant who is using good lamps and getting good light. Refer your large merchant to the other stores bigger than his, whose owners use good light and find that it pays. A glance at the business street in any city will demonstrate the influence of Mazda Light on business.
